

The Sun Will Set

Attention please: the sun will set in five minutes. If you have not foreseen this event, the night will come quickly. Twilight will be provided on a limited basis, after which the sun will not return until we announce it. We thank you for living today and choosing the sun as your basic provider of life.

We take this opportunity to announce our upcoming events including our daily shows as well as our exclusive eclipses and solar flares.

In the name of our entire sunshine crew, the ultra-violets, the infra-reds, the gamma rays, and all the photons, we wish you a very good night and hope to see you soon with us, when we return in a little more than nine hours.

© 2005 Guy Tiphane